

Ten Commandments for Travelers

- I. Thou shalt not expect to find things as thou hast left them at home...for thou hast left home to find things different.
- II. Thou shalt not let thy fellow travelers get on thy nerves, for thou art paying out good money to have a good time.
- III. Thou shalt not take anything too seriously, for a carefree mind is the beginning of a holiday.
- IV. Remember thy passport that thou knowest where it is at all times...for a traveler without a passport is a voyager without a country.
- V. Blessed is he who can say "Thank You" in any language...and it shall be worth more to him than much advice.
- VI. Blessed is the man who can make change in any currency...for lo, he shall not be cheated.
- VII. Thou shalt not worry. He that worrieth has few pleasures, and few things are ever fatal.
- VIII. Thou shalt not judge the people of a country by the one person with whom thou hast trouble.
- IX. In Rome, thou shalt do as the Romans. When in difficulty, use common sense and friendliness.
- X. Remember that thou art a guest in every land, and he that treateth his host with respect shall be treated in return as an honored guest.
